"Till I Do" to Sweeney, the road story now showing at the Capitol Theatre is now again for a good time, now having the best all-around entertainment you've seen in a long while. There is no telling how long you will have to wait for a second comedy that begins to come up to "Till I Do Sweeney." Conklin and Sweeney as a couple of unscrupulous crooks will provide all the laughs and fun. What laughter!

The Capitoline are just as popular as ever they were in their own town's musical numbers, assisted by three acts of entertainment.

AT THE NEW EMPIRE

After spending a two or three weeks engagement at Calgary, the Jordan Players returned to the New Empire theatre on Thursday night to finish a three days run in Charles F. Harrison's comedy "The Play." A holiday season the trend of the theatre is toward comedy, light and laughter and the Jordan Players are no exception in entering to the "Play." If the comedy "The Play" has provided a highly entertaining comedy which found a lot of favor with the large Thursday night audience.

The plot deals with the designs and intrigues of a woman and the marriage of a daughter to the man of the future. How the course of true love leads its way through the three acts and captures a good deal of the time and affords a background for much of the comedy.

With the exception of the substitution of Andrew Leach for Jack Marlowe the company has not been altered. The same excellent players are still with Mr. Gordon and their performance of "The Play" left little to be desired.

HERE AND ELSEWHERE

Edmonton people, shivering in the unusual and unweathered combination of sub-zero weather and strong winds, have no cause to feel lonesome in their disapproval of the elements. There is no other part of the world where no having things as they would like them. Vancouver has been peering through fog and splashing through a couple of feet of slushy snow. The London Parks air service had to be cancelled on account of storms. The Mediterranean was packed with liners which dare not leave port. If the sun spots are to blame for the elements, Vancouver, at least they are playing few favorites.

GETTING PUBLISHED

If it was part of the intention of Mayor Thompson to remind United States newspapers that there is a place called Chicago, he succeeded to a remarkable degree; though his fellow countrymen might rather prefer to read the kind of attention their burg has been getting as a result of his activities. From Seattle to New England and the cotton belt, the fourth edition of the Bulletin which Chicago is on the map, adding a pretty unanimous rider that it is the biggest blot on the whole landscape. Big Bill, the well-spoken observers, might, however, be better employed in reforming Chicago than in making it conspicuous. They have, in fact, driven Chicago almost to the point of desperation, and the radio is to be called into service to tell the outer world that Chicago is not the kind of place that might be supposed from the blithering of the Mayor and the rattle of machine guns.

From which it appears that Mayor Thompson as a possible presidential candidate is a faded hope. The fact is that he might like to see the office of anti-British sentiment stirred up by his own windiness was kind of a success in Canadian paper, but failed to excite the imaginations of U.S. contemporaries. These have been treating William and his antics as only another outcropping of Canadian eccentricities. In fact they almost ignore William and his propaganda while they focus attention upon Chicago's status as the crime centre of the continent.

Chicago is a national reproach. Timpid sons in this or other portions of the British Empire might already have a more exciting program has crashed. The sole result of it has been to put Chicago in the line-light, a good deal more line-light than it wants.

FEDERAL ROAD MONEY

The Alberta Motor Association is inviting the province of Alberta to join the Dominion Government to allocate $50,000,000 for road-building purposes, the money to be distributed to the provinces in the course of the next five years, according to the length of permanent highway each of them shall build. At the subsidiary arrangement made in 1919 expires this year, Federal aid in road-making will cease unless Parliament at the coming session adopts some plan of the kind. Hence the launching of the proposal at this particular time.

The sum thus asked for is more than double that set aside in 1919. Comparing the country's other obligations it is a fairly large order; large enough that objections may be raised by the representatives of the older provinces, which already have a large mileage of permanent highways and may be disposed to look upon this as a scheme for the special benefit of the prairie provinces, since these would have even chance to earn the subsidy and might be expected to get most of it.

If the Federal Government will stand the strain there is little doubt that the investment would be a good one. No one questions the value the country has got from the Federal money appropriation. And it is much more than now that it was in 1919 that good roads pay. Aside from the accommodation to our own people, roads which are of both business and pleasure, there is seemingly no limit to the amount of tourist traffic that can be drawn from the United States if we provide roads on which it is safe for tourists to travel.

It was suggested last summer that Canada could commemorate its jubilee in a more magnificent and profitable manner by starting the construction of a Confederation highway, designed to cross all the provinces from one coast to the other.

The present suggestion more acceptable in some parts of the country if it were provided that a substantial part of the Dominion money should be put back roads which would ultimately form links in this great national highway.

"Seek ye first the Kingdom of God."—Matt. 6:33

THE TOLL OF TIME

By EDWARD E. GUEST

Two thieves whipped a liar.

Oh, is that what that is? I thought it was a crow taking a wing.

No, is that wrong? But dat, hit's jes a pore lil' innerceter dove tryin' ter flutter erway when he see a couple er polecats gittin' too close.

"I'm young in spirit," promptly I reply.

"The spirit has no teeth," he answers back.

"You're right there, when you count time dry."

"You're looking still to have your hair as black as my teeth."

"What next will you say?" "You'd make me as surprised to learn you're having trouble with your eyes."

Last night I picked the 'phone book up to find a number which I felt I ought to call.

"What's wrong?" said Nellie. "Are you going blind?"

"I'm sure," said I. "This type seems very small."

"The way you show that back away," said she. "I'm afraid an oculist you ought to see."

So to the office antiologist I went.

And when I was there, even so much the name of some of the boasted virtues of our civilization, but there never of them in the past.

Nothing is wrong, except your eyes are tired. You've reached the age when glasses are required.

"I'm sure," said I. "This type seems very small."

PROSPERITY IS HERE ALREADY FIGURES SHOW

Board of Trade Secretary
Gives Interesting Address at Convention

On account of the energy of its population, and its natural resources, one could always look with confidence to Alberta giving a good account of itself, declared John Blue, secretary of the Edmonton Board of Trade, in addressing the annual convention of the salesmen, travellers and other officials of the Swift Canadian company in Western Canada, held Thursday evening at the Mardian hotel.

Mr. Blue chose as his subject "Prosperity is Here Already." He said that the outlook was so bright that he would give the problem from three different angles, namely, from the point of view of the individual, the community and the nation.

Turning to the larger and further distant horizon, he said that the fact that an important item was the production of raw materials, and that the government was abandoning the protectionist policy, and that the large quantities of money which were being poured into the country, were all factors which would lead to the prosperity of the people.

Turning to the community, he said that the fact that the government was abandoning the protectionist policy, and that the large quantities of money which were being poured into the country, were all factors which would lead to the prosperity of the people.

He said that the fact that the government was abandoning the protectionist policy, and that the large quantities of money which were being poured into the country, were all factors which would lead to the prosperity of the people.
